Humorous Editorial about
The Devil in the North Bass Island School Board

Consequently the inhabitants of North Bass, have been hard labor for the year. A share of tax money, for improving the roads on the Island, has been provided by the tax collector, and the total amount has been considerable. This has been divided among the various inhabitants of the Island, and has been divided in such a way that each person has received a share. The amount of money received by each person has been determined by the number of acres of land owned by that person. The larger the number of acres owned, the larger the share received.

The winter on the Island has been exceptionally cold, and the roads have been difficult to travel on. This has caused some inconvenience to the inhabitants, but it has also provided a good opportunity to improve the roads. The improvement of the roads has been a joint effort of the inhabitants, and it has been done with the assistance of the government.

The school on the Island has been attended by a large number of children, and it has been well received by the parents. The school has been well staffed, and the teachers have been well qualified. The children have been well instructed, and they have made good progress in their studies.

The citizens of North Bass have been active in their community, and they have worked hard to improve their surroundings. They have been successful in their endeavors, and they have shown that they are capable of taking care of their own affairs.

In conclusion, the inhabitants of North Bass have been hard labor for the year. They have worked hard to improve their community, and they have been successful in their endeavors. They have shown that they are capable of taking care of their own affairs, and they have been well received by the government.